DITTO DUPLICATORS

Help
Children
Learn
Faster . . .
Easier

The advantages of Ditto Duplicator and Ditto Methods are important to the education of your children. With Ditto, youngsters learn faster and easier, take a greater interest in their school work.

Because Ditto Duplicators can be used to copy anything drawn, typed or written in four to eight colors, Ditto has gained the enthusiastic approval of progressive educators and parents everywhere. This simple duplicating system saves teachers many hours of precious time, allows them to devote more time to individual student needs.

Ditto also provides workbooks printed in reproducing ink. Compiled by leading authorities one book provides lesson material for an entire class. Ditto coordinates the efforts of your children, their teachers and schools. Drop a card for complete details on Ditto. No obligation, of course.

NOVEMBER is a month of authors' birthdays. Thomas Bailey Aldrich was born on the 11th; Robert L. Stevenson, on the 13th; C. Collodi, on the 24th; Louisa M. Alcott, on the 29th; Jonathan Swift and Mark Twain, on the 30th. To help celebrate these birthdays, books in the WINSTON CLEAR-TYPE CLASSICS series, by all mentioned authors, are—or soon will be—back in stock.

REPORTS from thousands of schools which adopted EASY GROWTH IN READING upon publication indicate that their sixth-grade pupils are happy, successful readers.

THERMOSTATS invented for coal furnaces 63 years ago still afford the easiest way to a 10% rise in the efficiency of your furnace.

CHILDREN, because of limited experience, require more—not less—information than do adults about something new. That is the basic reason why THE WINSTON DICTIONARY FOR SCHOOLS provides enriched definitions and abundant illustrations.

PAY OFF? Yes, education does. One out of every 3 college graduates earned annually from $2500 up; while only 3 out of 200 with no schooling achieved that same income.

"PRINT and bind the books attractively" was a "must" when ARITHMETIC WE USE, (Grades 1-9) was being made.

THEME of American Education Week: "Education for the Atomic Age." Topic for Monday, November 11: "Building World Security." As we pause in commemoration this Armistice Day, we shall well remember our youth who died in the belief that their sacrifice would insure true world security.

BETHANY ADOPTS SICK LEAVE POLICY

The Bethany board of education on September 26, approved a sick leave policy for teachers according to Arvol A. Adams, superintendent of schools.

The plan provides that each teacher shall have five days sick leave for the following reasons: 1. illness of the teacher; 2. quarantining of the teacher; 3. illness or death in family—parents, brothers, sisters, children, grandchildren, grandparents, or any person who is wholly dependent upon the teacher.

Absence for other causes may be excused by the superintendent.

Any unused portion of the five days each year will be allowed to accumulate to a total of 20 days.

Another fine feature of the plan is the provision allowing half pay for the next twenty days after a teacher has used her cumulated days.

MEETINGS PLANNED FOR BUTLER COUNTY

Superintendents, principals and athletic coaches of Butler county plan to hold a meeting each month in order to discuss items of interest to the schools of the county.

DRIVE MADE TO GET COMMUNITY BUILDING ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

The Naylor schools are making every effort to get a new community building erected on the school grounds and also a new vocational building and equipment according to Superintendent B. M. Gramling.

Two veterans are on the faculty of the Naylor public schools. They are Marvin Atwood, high school mathematics; and Marvin Kesterson, principal of the grade school. Ruth Woodard, teacher of commercial subjects, resigned recently.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Postwar conditions still make it difficult to plan and conduct a state meeting. The housing situation is acute and teachers should have places to stay before leaving home.

The officers of the Association take this opportunity to express gratitude for the part you play, by your presence or otherwise, in making the Convention a success.

MAJOR PROBLEM

The number one problem facing our State and Nation is the securing and retaining of qualified personnel. "As is the teacher so is the school" is an old saying trite but true.

The solution depends largely on salaries. Although the average salary of Missouri teachers has increased $273 over last year, how can we hope to build in times like these the type of profession we need on an average salary of approximately $1835?

Last year at the time of the Annual Meeting, we were interested, among other things, in the passage of legislation in accordance with the new Constitution making possible the voting of increased local levies. You know the relief it has given, coupled with increased state aid.

More money must be forthcoming if an almost complete deterioration of the educational program in many communities is to be averted. The three possible sources are local, state and federal.

EIGHT VETERANS ON FACULTY AT LAMAR HIGH SCHOOL

Nine of the thirteen teachers in the Lamar high school this year are men. Eight of the nine are returned service men and the ninth worked in a defense plant during the war after being rejected by the Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard, according to Ted Windes, superintendent of schools.

The school's cafeteria has been recently renovated and approximately 60% of the 665 pupils enrolled eat the school lunch regularly.

Our Special Task

THE GENERAL THEME for American Education Week, November 10-16, is "Education For the Atomic Age."

The special theme for Tuesday of that week is "Facing New Tasks" which theme we, as teachers, have as our slogan at all times. Each day brings its problems, privileges, and possibilities.

The special task which we, as educators, face in Missouri this year is that of launching the Victory Action Program which was adopted unanimously by the Representative Assembly of the National Education Association in Buffalo, New York on July 5, 1946. The goals of the program are high but they can be reached by concerted and unified effort.

During the next five-year period membership in the NEA in each state is expected to reach at least 90% of the membership in the state organization.

Last year the NEA membership in Missouri was about 30% of the MSTA enrollment. This year we should increase NEA participation in the state, by approximately 3,000 members—a privilege and a possibility, which we can easily make a reality.

According to the records at NEA headquarters, Lincoln and Ralls were the only counties in Missouri having 100% NEA membership last year. Congratulations, teachers! Let's make the number of counties fifty this year. The 100% cities were Butler, St. Joseph, North Kansas City,

By GRACE RIGGS
State Director, NEA
Kansas City

Boonville, Trenton, Lexington, Paris, Maryville, Sedalia, Frankford, St. Charles, Wentzville, Clayton, Kirkwood, Ladue, Normandy, Hollister, Cabool, Nevada, Maplewood-Richmond Heights, Silex, Troy, and Winfield. Let's add at least one hundred to this list by May 31, 1947!

Cities already enrolled 100% this year are Cabool, Columbia and Lexington.

We know our problem, we appreciate the privilege, and accept the challenge to make the possibility of adding three thousand members to the NEA in Missouri come true.

During the meeting of the MSTA in Kansas City on November 6, 7 and 8, there will be materials concerning the NEA—its accomplishments and program—at the registration booth. A teacher will be at the booth to give information and to accept registrations.

Remember—Every teacher in the state an active member of a local, the state, and the national education professional organizations is our goal. Do your part by sending in your enrollment today. Use the coupon below.

V-2 ROCKETS

TRAVELING ABOUT 5 TIMES FASTER than sound, speeding as fast as 3400 mph on part of their trajectory into the ionosphere, the German V-2 rockets are being tested by the Army at White Sands, N. M. At the same time information is being gathered about cosmic rays, temperatures, density, pressure, dust, and bacteria 75 miles up. This information is received on the ground through the use of telemetering equipment that is installed in the missiles. Results recorded by scientific instruments in the rocket nose are automatically radioed to earth during the flight. These V-2 rockets have gyro control; they also have an emergency radio control for shut-off.

FIVE FEET IN DIAMETER and forty-six feet long, they weigh approximately 15 tons. Within 63 seconds from the time the firing button is pressed, these rockets burn 8304 pounds of ethyl alcohol and 10,000 pounds of liquid oxygen. This mixture burns at high pressure in a combustion chamber and the gases are exhausted through a supersonic nozzle. The rocket is propelled in the same way a jet plane is driven. Rockets, however, must carry their own supply of oxygen since they cannot draw it from the air as jet planes do.

The V-2's speed at roughly a mile a second. At this tremendous speed the friction in the air causes them to become red hot toward the end of the flight when traveling in comparatively dense atmosphere.

SAFE FIRING OF THE ROCKETS was assured before these tests were even started. General Electric scientists and engineers had, with the help of a computing machine, gathered the necessary data. They already knew the velocity, trajectory, altitude, and range of the rocket and were certain that all flight conditions could be met. This computing machine, a differential analyzer, did in ten days a job which would have required three months' concentrated effort of an individual mathematician. The figures which the machine produced predicted very closely the actual flight operation of the rocket.

The V-2 begins ascent amidst dust, smoke, and flame.

World Conference of the Teaching Profession

THE FIRST WORLD-WIDE conference of the teaching profession was held at Endicott, New York, the last two weeks in August where the housing facilities of the International Business Machine Corporation were used. At this conference which was initiated by the National Education Association, I was requested to represent the Missouri State Teachers Association as host to the delegates from England.

It developed that the English delegation was to be met at the dock on their arrival on August 13, and to be entertained in New York until the evening of August 16, at which time they were to depart for Endicott. Miss Edna Baker, hostess for the New Jersey Education Association, took care of this situation in a most commendable manner.

In the Homestead at Endicott there was ample room for meeting places for all sessions. A book exhibit was used to display books from all countries as well as our own 'pride and joy'—Progress Report to Membership. This booklet was surely highly complimented by all.

By RAYMOND R. BRISBIN
Assistant Principal
Soldan High School, St. Louis

The seriousness of the meeting required some entertainment and divertisement. Needless to say, we would have failed miserably had not the delegates from England been supplied with tea and biscuits. One evening the Missouri host showed about 1500 feet of 8mm. movie film which showed the United States in general and Missouri in particular. We tried to "show 'em."

The plenary sessions were held in the assembly hall. In addition to the usual necessities, it was equipped with the most modern translator system. Regardless of the language being spoken by the speaker, the hearer could receive it in English, Spanish, French or Greek by aid of a little radio gadget tuned in to the proper translator. Hence, a most complete understanding of the proceedings was possible for all.

Although my primary obligation at this conference was to act as host to the dele-

Delegates attending the first World Conference of the Teaching Profession held at Endicott, New York. The delegates went on record as opposing "all instruction designed directly or indirectly to promote military aggression."

Take a deep breath and climb off today's Merry-Go-Round of higher and higher prices and the never ending battle of searching for scarcity items . . . No sugar for canning . . . Those long waiting lines for precious soapflakes. It's all one continuous nightmare, but there is one welcome oasis in this desert of today's woes . . . It's your electric service! There's no waiting for electricity . . . It's as handy as your nearest electric outlet. And what's more important your electric service has gone down in cost 5.1 percent since 1939!

M.S.T.A. Host to Delegates of England

Delegates from the National Union of Teachers and the Joint Committee of the four Secondary Associations of England were entertained by the Missouri and New Jersey Associations.

gates from England, I feel that I would be remiss if I did not report something of its composition, some of its objectives and results.

Fifty-six delegates, representing twenty-eight countries were in attendance. The delegates from the other countries showed great knowledge and understanding of their problems as well as of other countries. It is therefore not surprising that so much was accomplished in such a short length of time. I was particularly impressed by the facility with which our guests from Britain organized and crystallized their thinking into presentable form.

The conference selected Mr. F. L. Schlägle, past president of the NEA, as the president, and Mr. William G. Carr, associate secretary of NEA, as Conference General Secretary. The chairmen of the several committees were as follows: Margaret Pringle, Scotland, on International Organization of the Teaching Profession; E. Floyd Wiloughby, Canada, on Teaching International Understanding; W. DeLange, Netherlands, on Assistance to Schools in Areas Devastated by the War; Ralph Morley, England, on Recommendations to UNESCO; Vaclav Prihoda, Czechoslovakia, on General Resolutions.

COPYRIGHT 1946, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

The purposes of the World Organization of the Teaching Profession, the official name adopted for the organization, as stated in the Draft Constitution are as follows:

(1) To make the highest standards of full and free education available to all without discrimination.

(2) To improve the professional status of the teachers of the world and to promote their intellectual, material, social, and civic interests and rights.

(3) To promote world-wide peace through the building of goodwill founded upon cooperation between nations in educational enterprises, based upon pertinent and accurate information.

(4) To advise the appropriate organizations of the United Nations and of other international bodies on educational and professional matters.

I have neither the time nor space to develop these purposes as they were developed by the committee and the plenary sessions. I shall report in some detail on the emphasis placed on peace and international understanding.

It was stated relative to International Understanding that: "The teaching of international understanding rests upon the cultivation of ideals and development of a sense of personal responsibility for cooperation with others in all matters affecting human welfare." It does not involve the sacrifices of national culture or national citizenship, or the subordination of one to another. It requires thorough study of world problems, including the knowledge of economic forces and historical backgrounds.

This can be brought about through (1) Education accepting its responsibilities; (2) the proper teaching of history, both current and that of former times; (3) the teaching of modern languages; (4) the establishment of an international language (a living language was considered preferable); (5) the teaching of music, art, and literature; (6) improvement of textbooks; (7) an international study of teaching practices; (8) extension of literacy; (9) the exchange of students of different countries; (10) teacher travel and exchange; (11) educational uses of media of mass communication; (12) work of a central office of documentation and exchange of materials; (13) research, experimentation, and education.

Through the conference one could not help but be impressed by the capabilities of this distinguished group of people who were striving to bring about peace through education; all seemed to feel that if we were to have peace, it must be conceived in the hearts of all the children at the earliest age of understanding and carried on throughout their lives.

MORE MEN TEACHERS FOR HOWARD COUNTY

The number of men employed in the schools of Howard county has been increased by 50% this year, according to superintendent John R. Smart, Jr., of Glasgow, who reports a meeting of the schoolmen's association held recently to discuss education problems common to the county.

2. "—the iron ore, coal and limestone were carried by rail in hopper cars to a steel mill. Then, after the steel had been fabricated—

Difficult concepts are hard to explain. But with the classroom film, the processes of teaching—and learning—take on interest and drama—become easier for the teacher, easier for the student.

Encyclopaedia Britannica Films afford the most complete and authentic collection of professionally created, teacher-tested sound and silent motion pictures exclusively designed for classroom use.

Even schools with small budgets can build a basic classroom film library—now—under the new Lease-to-OWN Plan, or by participation in a Cooperative Film Library program. The cost is as low as film rentals (often lower)—and with no liabilities beyond the budget year.

RECOMMENDS JUNIOR RED CROSS PROGRAM

Repetition can be creative. The achievements of the many thousands of Junior Red Cross members in Missouri in the past school year is proof of this fact.

As members of the teaching profession, we know better than ever before that our world desperately requires physical and emotional health, together with a great measure of social literacy. I commend to all teachers, as an invaluable instructional tool to accomplish these desirable goals, the full use of the Junior Red Cross program. It has this year as much, if not more, to offer you and your pupils as it had during the war years.

By all means discuss the Junior Red Cross enrollment and program with your pupils between November 1-15. Utilize that program in association with your pupils.

Roy Scantlin

To Visit Missouri

MARY TITUS

The Department of Classroom Teachers of the Missouri State Teachers Association has invited Miss Mary Titus, president, Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, as its guest in Kansas City during the State Convention.

Miss Titus was elected president of the Department of Classroom Teachers at the N. E. A. meeting in Buffalo, New York, held the forepart of last July. She is a teacher of physical education in the junior high school at Huntington, West Virginia. During her two years as director of Southeastern region, Department of Classroom Teachers, NEA, she worked with a committee to write a plan book for local association officers. She has served most effectively professional educational organizations at the local, state and national levels.

Miss Titus will speak, using the subject "Today's Crisis—Its Dangers, Opportunities and Challenges," at the Classroom Teachers luncheon which will be held in the Ballroom, Hotel President, on Thursday, November 7, from 11:30 to 1:45. Those who heard her on the panel of educators on Town Hall Meeting of the Air last February on the subject "How to Get Better Teachers" know that she is fearless and practical. Also at the luncheon the Department will consider its responsibilities through UNESCO as it hears greetings from the teachers of England brought by Gwen Eades, an exchange teacher from Middlesex, England, and greetings from the teachers of Italy, brought by Dr. Maria Castellani of Rome, Italy.

Since the answer to most of the educational problems of today must come through concerted action achieved by vigorous local, state and national associations, the Department of Classroom Teachers has arranged a breakfast in the Aztec Room, Hotel President, on Friday morning, November 8, from 7:45 to 9:15. Miss Titus will lead a discussion "Building and Strengthening Local Associations." The breakfast is for officers of local associations and for key teachers in community associations.

Many will want to confer with Miss Titus on specific problems of local associations. She will be available for conferences on November 6 and 7.

Reservations for these functions must be made in advance. Be assured of a place. Make your reservation early.

FALL

WILD GEESE wing the sky,
Honking their sharp plaintive cry,
Lonely butterflies, hatched too late,
Waft about hunting mates.
Leaves let go without a sound,
Turn over, and over to the ground.
Milkweeds turn their pods inside out,
And scatter their children all about.
Brooks are clear, and very still,
And squirrels work, with a will.
We hear the crow's saucy call,
All these signs show its Fall.

—LOTTIE W. BITTNER

THOUGHTFULNESS

IT WAS JUST a bit of golden-rod,
(And I have asthma, too).
It was just a dried up zenia
And he thought that would do.
But the smiles that accompanied
Those tightly clenched bouquets
Would scatter clouds and raindrops
For many, many days.

Just a sweet little girl of six
And a boy who still says "cool,"
But it's those bits of thoughtfulness
That keeps me teaching school.

—HELEN KITCHELL EVANS

AUTUMN

NOW IS THE beautiful autumn,
And the Earth's giant children
Are gaudily dressed.
The spring-time and the summer
One by one have passed.

With sadness, yet with beauty,
The summer days are gone,
And so in all great beauty
There are shades of sadness shown.

A life that experiences no sadness,
A face without traces of care,
A soil ne'er touched by a raindrop,
O, where is the beauty there?

Spring, is but a beautiful child,
As she sings and frolics about,
Summer, a maiden fair,
With her crown of golden locks.

But dear, dear noble autumn
Thy face bears traces of care,
As you urge our preparation
For the dark time of the year.

You send the birds to a sunny Heaven,
You admonish the squirrel his store
To replenish.
With love, care, and kindness
Is your counsel given.

Who could desire face more beautiful,
Or a character more sublime,
Then now in all its force we see,
The noble, beautiful, autumn-time?

—MYRTLE RUTH HAMMOND

A NEW GUEST

ON THE FIRST OF OCTOBER a huge moving van rolled to a stop in front of the State Teachers Association building in Columbia.

The van was of no particular importance but its contents were of great significance. It contained the files, records, and furnishings of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers, moved from St. Joseph. These were placed in the South office on the second floor of the Association building which is the new home of this great organization. The office has been leased for a three-year period.

The things mentioned above are physical items and they are important. But what is more significant is the inherent bondage of friendship which this move projects on the educational screen for Missouri.

There will of course be no constitutional or legal connection between the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Missouri State Teachers Association. Each will maintain its own identity. However, the proximity of the offices will lend itself to a fuller and more complete understanding of the programs of each organization. It will undoubtedly result in more unified efforts on common problems. The purposes of the two groups coincide as closely as is possible for two separate units. Each wants to see education in Missouri go forward.

Under this new set-up each organization can gain a clearer insight into the new plans and movements of the other in a briefer length of time. Each will be in a better position to help promote common goals.

The Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers can be proud of its membership totaling 111,937 with a rank of tenth among the states in the United States. The membership goal for 1946-47 is 120,000.

We welcome our new colleague and co-partner in the betterment of education for all Missouri youth.
